Twelve other persons were hurt badly enough to require attention from the surgeons who were called to the scene in ambulances from the New York, Volunteer, Broad Street, Gouverneur and St. Vincent's hospitals. The injured were wedged in the splintered wreckage of the car which had shot through the guard rail and which hung at an angle of forty-five degrees from the elevated track. The wreckage was a tangled mass of twisted metal and splintered wood. The injured were taken to the hospital in ambulances. VICTORY PARADES HELD BY TENANTS

Bands Play and Holidays Are Declared in Celebration of Landlord Defeats.

NO EVICTION RECORDED

Justices Rule as Unit in Upholding Provisions of New Rent Laws.

Wholesale dismissal of eviction proceedings brought under the new rent laws in the municipal courts of this city was followed yesterday afternoon and last night by celebrations on the part of the tenants. New York's Italian quarters, where large numbers had succeeded in frustrating the designs of their landlords to oust them, was the scene of parades. Flags were unfurled from fire escapes and brass bands marched in the streets.

In other parts of the city, where tenants were less demonstrative, holidays were suddenly called and outings were quickly arranged. In many large tenements the various families held joint housewarmings to which neighbors were invited.

Everywhere Justices had followed the policy established last week of dismissing the evictions. The judges, in their papers, contained technical errors, in granting stays of from two to six months where the landlord demanded the premises, and in cutting rentals to 25 percent of the former amount. The landlords showed that the court considered to be good reason for asking a large sum. All cases of this class were dismissed.

The second district municipal court in Madison street, with its great number of East Side litigants, was packed to capacity, and whenever a landlord was granted a stay of from two to six months, the tenants would cheer. There were 200 cases that Justice Hoffman disposed of, not one landlord scored a victory.

Justice Hoffman's court was so crowded that he had to ask the attorneys to stand. He was surrounded by a crowd of tenants who were cheering and shouting. The landlords were looking on with despair. The tenants were celebrating their victory.

SHENK IN TOMBS; MUST SERVE TERM

Real Estate Operator, Convicted 4 Years Ago, to Go to Blackwell's for a Year.

GLASSER IN THE SAME FIX

Hirshfield Gets Letter Criticizing Stratton-Hylan Urges Speedy Police Trials.

After nearly six years of legal delay, Joseph M. Shenk, one of New York's wealthiest real estate operators, and Abraham Glasser, superintendent of one of his apartment houses, were lodged in the Tombs yesterday, where they will be taken to the penitentiary on Blackwell's Island to serve a year for maintaining a disreputable resort.

They were arrested in 1914, convicted in General Sessions on May 10, 1916, and sentenced by Judge Muliken on May 29. It was said at the time that Shenk owned twelve apartment houses and leased 114, and that his income from rentals was about $2,000,000 a year.

Shenk and Glasser were held to the penalty of knowingly submitting apartments for "disreputable purposes." They carried their case to the court of appeals, which recently upheld the decision of the lower courts.

Mayor Hylan sent a letter to District Attorney Swann yesterday urging the necessity of an immediate trial for the men. The letter was signed by the mayor and was addressed to the district attorney.

The district attorney's office believes that the men are guilty of the crime. The men are being held in the Tombs. The men are being held in the Tombs. The men are being held in the Tombs.

MAN KILLED IN FIRE; ONE JUMPS; MAY DIE

Fifty Have Narrow Escape From Burning Building.

Fifty Have Narrow Escape

One man was burned to death and another injured seriously by jumping from a third floor window, yesterday afternoon, during a fire which destroyed the three upper floors of a four story triangular shaped manufacturing building at West Houston and Bedford streets. Fifty men were at work in the building when the blaze, started by an overheated electric motor igniting a quantity of celluloid, as it was up through the stair well to the roof. It was believed everybody had escaped from the building when a man, his clothing afire, appeared at a third floor window on the Houston street side. Men in the street shouted to him not to jump until a fire engine and others had arranged ladders of rope to him to leap up.

Disregarding the shouts, the man leaped and fell on the pavement. Joseph Kane and several men, rushing to his aid, rushed him into an adjoining building, where he fell unconscious. He was removed to Bellevue Hospital, where physicians held out little hope for his recovery. The police failed to learn his name.

When the flames had been sufficiently subdued for firemen to enter the building, Acting Battalion Chief A. M. Albee came upon the charred body of a man on the fourth floor, near a window facing on Houston street. The body was badly burned recognition was impossible. It was removed to the morgue to await identification.

Among the concerns occupying the building were the Superior Ivory Novelty Company, Charles Renaldi and cabinet manufacturers, and a metal plating concern.
